I am a multi-talented designer with a focus in digital media. With 6 years of practical experience at several agencies I have a firm grasp of how product design, and software development realize marketing goals. Never content with just one trick, I taught myself a wide variety of skills to accomplish the task at hand. I eat code books for breakfast and draw infographics at the dinner table. I am good at what I do, but I realize that there is always somebody better and something new to learn.

Work Experience

FRONT END DEVELOPER

for VENVEO, 2012-PRESENT

As a front end developer my main responsibility has been to connect theoretical designs with concrete development. Leveraging my strong background in design and a knack for code, I can capture the subtlety of good design and make it work in the blunt world of software. Furthermore, working with a close knit team of multi-talented individuals at Venveo means I haven't just written code. I have designed whole apps, planned user paths, drawn wireframes and contributed to marketing plans for Venveo's disparate clients.
